Receiving the BC's Top Employers award for 2021 validates the corporation's ongoing efforts to foster a professional and forward-thinking workplace with a strong sense of community.

"I have so many reasons to be proud of the Pension Corporation team. This award recognizes many of the great things we do, and there is so much more. The forward-thinking culture we have and the many successes we've achieved is because everyone contributes and plays their part. It is a privilege to serve as CEO for this amazing community of people," said Laura Nashman, CEO, BC Pension Corporation

For the past 16 years, Canada's Top 100 Employers, a national competition to determine which employers lead their industries, has recognized the top 100 employers in BC that offer exceptional places to work. Employers are compared with other organizations in their field to determine which offer the most progressive and forward-thinking programs.

BC Pension Corporation stands out as a top employer based on how we invest in our people with progressive learning and development programs, generous tuition subsidies, mental and physical health and wellness programs, and corporate recognition like our ACE Awards and our annual Staff Day. We continue to push the envelope on flexible work options and writing our future of work. We recognize that flexible work options are attractive to recruiting and retaining great people. Understanding what people need to be effective and supported in more flexible, virtual environments is key to our organizational performance going forward.

We were specifically celebrated for our quick COVID response to move the majority of our employees to work-from-home arrangements and ensured they had all the tools they needed to thrive, while maintaining our strong sense of community.
